

Summer Reading Requirements Entering Seventh Grade 2022-2023

Students are required to read two books over the summer. One common book is required, and students should be prepared to take an assessment on the required book and discuss it in depth during the first week of school. The one choice book must come from the rising seventh and eighth grade reading list. Assignments are due the first full day of classes.

Summer reading report requirements for seventh-grade students:

All of these books have favorable reviews. Parents, please supervise your child's choice for the one book; some books may contain adult language and situations. Please read and follow carefully the requirements for the two books. Your written assignments are due the first full day of class.

Written Assignments for Required Book:

Rising seventh-grade students are required to read the Young Readers Version - I Am Malala: How One Girl Stood Up for Education and Changed the World by Malala Yousafzai.

Reflection Journal - Consider the following themes and respond to the questions as you read, I Am Malala: How One Girl Stood Up for Education and Change the World. Please answer one question per page, as some questions require more thorough answers than others. You may type your responses or handwrite them. Please make sure all papers are organized and legible when you submit them at the beginning of the year.

The Value of Education

- 1) Why does Malala have such a passion for education? Do you share her passion? Why or why not?
- 2) Malala has said, "Let us pick up our book and our pens. They are our most powerful weapon." What do you think of this statement? Do you think education is a weapon?
- 3) According to Malala, why does the Taliban want to prevent girls from being educated? Why do you think the Taliban feels threatened by the education of women?
- 4) How important is it that every child have an opportunity to be educated? What do you think it means to be educated? How important is your own education to you?

Personal Virtue

- 5) What do you admire about Malala? During the events recounted in the book, she was just a bit younger than you are now. Though her situation is quite different from yours, do you think there is any way that she can be a model to you?

- 6) Early in the book Malala explains what she might do if confronted by a terrorist. She says, "Maybe I'd take off my shoes and hit him, but then I'd think if I did that there would be no difference between me and a terrorist." What is your reaction to Malala's thinking? What do you think is the best way to combat hate?
- 7) What do you think is the source of Malala's strength and virtue?
- 8) How do Malala's parents demonstrate courage? Malala's father encourages Malala to speak up against the Taliban while her mother wishes Malala were less involved. If you were Malala's parent, would you have encouraged her to speak out or would you encourage her to protect herself?
- 9) What is Malala's relationship to each of her parents?
- 10) Do you have the courage to stand up for the principles and opportunities that are most important to you? Do you have a cause about which you care deeply? What is it?

Assignments for Choice Book:

Annotations - Annotate your free choice book. For this text, you should use these guidelines to help ensure that you read the book closely and annotate it well. Since we will annotate several texts in seventh grade, this will be a very useful exercise for you. It should be clear to your teacher that you have read and thought about the entire book, not just random chunks here and there. You should have comments on nearly every page.

- Make brief comments in the margins. Use any white space available - inside cover, random blank pages in the book.
- Make brief comments between or within lines of the text. Don't be afraid to mark within the text itself. In fact, often, you must!
- Circle or put boxes around key words or phrases, then add a comment explaining why/how those elements are important in the passage. Don't just circle parts of the book without explaining the significance of them.
- Pay attention to topics, patterns, and ideas that resurface in the text. These will lead you to uncovering themes, the central messages, of the book.
- Comment on the actions or development of any key characters. Does the character change? Why? How? In what ways? What is the result of these changes on the character and on others?
- Comment on things that intrigue, impress, inspire, challenge, confuse, and give you epiphanies ('aha moments!').
- Comment on lines/quotations that you think are especially significant, powerful, or meaningful, and explain WHY you think they are so important.
- Summarize key events/plot points in each chapter. Make predictions within and at the end of chapters.
- Note anything you would like to discuss or do not understand.

PLEASE REMEMBER THAT THE GRADE YOU EARN ON YOUR SUMMER READING ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE YOUR FIRST LITERATURE TEST GRADE.

Stoker, Bram	Dracula	Classic	Having discovered the double identity of the wealthy Transylvanian nobleman Count Dracula, a small group of people vow to rid the world of the evil vampire.
Taylor, Mildred	All the Days Past, All the Days to Come	Historical Fiction	End of a series. In her tenth book, Mildred Taylor completes her sweeping saga about the Logan family of Mississippi, which is also the story of the civil rights movement in America of the 20th century. Cassie Logan, first met in Song of the Trees and Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry, is a young woman now, searching for her place in the world, a journey that takes her from Toledo to California, to law school in Boston, and, ultimately, in the 60s, home to Mississippi to participate in voter registration. She is witness to the now-historic events of the century: the Great Migration north, the rise of the civil rights movement, preceded and precipitated by the racist society of America, and the often violent confrontations that brought about change. Rich, compelling storytelling is Ms. Taylor's hallmark, and she fulfills expectations as she brings to a close the stirring family story that has absorbed her for over forty years. It is a story she was born to tell.
